Dear customers,

CANON ANELVA CORPORATION
Component Development Dept.

Notice of End of the Sale of P-875CA Compressor Unit

Thank you for using CANON ANELVA products.

The P-875CA compressor unit for the POWER/POWER^{ECO} series cryopump has been on sale for 27 years since its release, but the production is now difficult because the production of their component parts has been discontinued. For this reason, we would like to terminate the sales in August 2022.

When the P-875CA compressor unit needs to be replaced due to maintenance and services, the F-50L compressor unit will be used, but a dedicated driver unit will be required for the compressor unit.

We will let you know details of maintenance and services separately.

We will continuously provide maintenance and service support for the P-875CA compressor unit, but please understand that we may not be able to repair the compressor unit due to the procurement conditions of replacement parts, etc.

We will continuously make efforts to improve the reliability of our products and would like our customers to support us in the future as well.
